This is where you set up provisions for handling responses to questions that could have a variety of responses over multiple conditions. For example, in this instance, the answers are to reflect the respondent's feelings over three time periods: the last week, the last month and the last year. <P> First you create a group and give it a name. Each Group is given an ID. Then, within the Group, you assign Columns -- each with its own Title and Sequence Number. <P> The purpose for all of this is to sort out the responses into usable columns of identifiable data.

.4.1.3.8 Data Source ID (R)

.4.1.3.9 Status ID (drop-down box)

Caution! If you select a status, but the Content you seek is recorded with a different status, the search will not return it. Specifically, if the item has NOT been marked as 'Not Applicable', entering that status here would preclude it from the search results. <P> This parameter might be used if there are several items of content with a similar ID and you are seeking to differentiate from among them by specifying a Status. <P> The named Status in the drop-down list might be slightly different from what shows in the results. For example, if you search for items with a 'Published' status, the returns could include content labeled 'BLOG_PUBLISHED.'

.4.1.3.21 Last Modified Date

Contains two popup calendars with associated Radio buttons; bracket the expected date (select one earlier and one later), and it will return all Content modified between those dates. You are better off using buttons other than Equals.

.4.1.3.22 Last Modified By User Login

Popup to Party Manager > Lookup Person screen. Same screen as used in the Created By User Login popup; see above.

.4.1.4 Table of Found Content

.4.1.4.1 Discussion of Content Table

Following a successful search, only those items matching the parameters of your search will be displayed in this table. For example, if you knew that the content begins with STD..., enter STD in the search engine ID field and select the Radio Button 'Begins With'. The table would then display all IDs beginning with STD, in this case showing only STDWRAP001. Only 20 items are displayed on the screen; click on [Next] in the lower LH corner of the screen to see the next 20 items. Click on the ID under the Edit column to begin working with the selected Content.
