

Site Design Option 1: The Community

This option has a static layout and has the same content as option 2, except it's all in one location on the home page.

The developer center also changes to the user center and the contributor center.

The screenshot displays a website layout for the UIMA Community. At the top left is the UIMA Logo and the text "an Apache Incubator Project". A search bar is located at the top right. The main navigation bar includes "About", "Community", "Downloads", and "Development" (which is highlighted in yellow). A secondary level of navigation is shown below "Development", including "Get Involved", "Wiki", "Forum", "Contribution Policies", "Mailing Lists", "Other Resources", "Events", and "Community Groups".

The main content area is divided into several sections:

- Welcome: A text block introducing Apache UIMA as a project of the Apache incubator, aimed at building a community of users and developers.
- UIMA Community: A section with a logo and a "get involved" link.
- UIMA Forum: A link to "Read, post, search, learn!".
- UIMA Wiki: A link to a page with placeholder text.
- Popular Downloads: A list of four placeholder links.
- News & Events: A section with three placeholder text blocks.
- Join Our Mailing List: A form with an "e-mail" input field.

Annotations include a pink dashed line pointing to the secondary navigation with the text "Secondary level navigation shows up upon tab mouse-over)", and another pink dashed line pointing to the "Developer Center" link with the text "Selections: User Center or Contributor Center".

At the bottom, there is a footer with a "View our privacy policy." link, a navigation menu (Home | About | Community | Downloads | Development | Contact Us), and a copyright notice: "© Apache Software Foundation 2007".